Before commenting upon his All-American selections, the Eastern crific, in his introduction, reviews at length the game as played under the new rules, without stating definitely that the so-called "reform code" has been a process."

speaking of the changes in the 1910 Tures he states that the committees of the pounding plays upon the tackles is one of the most valuable reforms adopted by the committee, and that the ban on such a battering and brutal atone individual player has made for a fairer sport and has also lessened the danger of accidents.

Carr Named President Of Amateur Leagues

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 12.-Charles C. Carr, former manager of the Indianapolis baseball club, has been elected president of the Indiana Baseball elected president of the Indiana Baseball Association of Amateur and Semi-professional Teams,

H. G. Copeland, a local baseball writer, was elected secretary, and E. G. Sourbier, an automobile manufacturer, treasurer. The object of the organization is to provide better playing conditions for the teams, to book games, assign umpires and scorers, and it will hold the same relation to the State teams that the National commission holds to organized baseball. Carr is the father of the movement here and his election was unanimous.

Cubs Sign Doyle.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The signed contract of Jim Doyle, candidate for third base duty on the Cubs, was received by President Murphy. Doyle was secured last summer by purchase from the Louisville club, and is rated as a heavy batter in addition to being a "sweet" infielder.

New League Planned.

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 12.—A baseball league to represent northeastern Pennreague to represent northeastern Pennsylvania on the diamond next season will be organized here soon. The promoters of the project are men interested in the game, and who are willing to properly finance the scheme.

Needham Signs.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Tom Needham, the Cub catcher, has emerged from the society of holdouts, and next season will be behind the bat for the Chicago

Pendleton, the Princeton star, is given a halfback position, while Wendell, of Harvard, at the other half, and Sprackling, of Brown, at quarter, with Mercer, make up the backfield.

Three Western players are on the team—Benbrook, a guard, and Wells, an end, of Michigan; and Walker, a tackle, of Minnesota. Kilpatrick, the star end, is the only Yale man, while in addition to Wendell Harvard gets McKay at tackle and Fisher at guard on Camp's All-American team.

Commenting on his selections, Camp says in part:

Sical year, November 16, 1909, there were 7,006 national banks, with aggregate resources 40 January 30, 58,581,394,662.73. On January 31, 1910, the resources had increased to 58,780,581,582.37; on March 29 to 58,841,924.

England Leads.

"Benbrook and Fisher are a wonderful pair of guards. Benbrook is a born that have postal savings banks, although Last year he showed great it will be interesting to note what posi-strength and dash and an ability to follow the every line, and there is no match for him on the gridiron. Fisher, of Harvard, is next to Benbrook and outclassed the other competitors for this position. "Coming to the pivotal position of center, Cozens, of Pennsylvania, gets the call from Morris, of Yale, because he has played in top form from the very start of the session, and was a shade the more consistent passer, making almost no slips. The defensive work of both outshine that of any other middle man throughout the season.

Among the States New York leads, with the largest amount of deposits, the banks and trust companies in that State having approximately a billion and a half in meney.

The amount of gold held by the banks during the year was $504.694.219. The report shows that the banks are gradually relying more and more upon the conservative Government bonds for investment. Bonds and securities other than Government shares held by banks during the year decreased over fifty-one millions from the year before.

Particular attention is paid to postal savings banks in the report. It states that forty-eight postoffices have been designated, so far, as postal savings depositories. the banks and trust companies in that

Rites At Arlington Curtailed By Widow on Account of Weather-Record of Old Warrior Full of the Excitement of the Civil War Days.

At the date of the first call during the conducted at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Ran-fiscal year, November 16, 1909, there were dolph McKlm and the Rev. John A.

They are found among those who "preach in advance of the army and skirmish ahead of the church;" they are found, too, in the armies which follow after the skirmishers, and among the ploneers of waste places.

Of such was he, the man who from the time he was but a youth running away to join the army, was wont to take his chances with flying bullets, and who made a name for himself and for his squadron as the smartest, hardest riders of the Federal forces.

In the ranks of men who follow the long trail of danger there are two extremes. One is the New York man, who, tiring of lift sought the mercy of a kindly bullet in seasen and out, in war and peace, but escaped unscathed to turn his weapon upon himself at the last. And then there are the boys like Groce and Cannon, who in their early careers faced with their backs to a wall the rusty rifles of a tattermedallion squad of Venzuelan soldiery.

Somewhere between these two extremes, came Mai, Gen. Wallace F. Randoloh.

The automobile racing game during he year now closing was in a most satisfactory condition. The contests were wider spread, met with greater interest and yielded better results than ever before. New records for American road racing were made several times during the year, while the twenty-four-hour contests at Brighton Beach resulted in new mileage marks. The dirt track and motordrome meets in various sections of the cour try showed astonishing driving on the part of many "speed merchants." The successful season was due in a large measure to the rules under which racing was conducted. Last winter the Manufactuers' Contest Association drew up a new set of racing rules, which were subsequently adopted by the American Automobile Association. Under them auto racing was systematized. more careful and accurate record sheets were kept and the stock car situation was presented in better form. It is on the cards that the Manufactures' Contest and the three further recommendations to the three further recommendations to the three further recommendations to the three further recommendations will undoubted by adopted. FINANCIAL

The Safest Investments.

Are those that do not fluctuate during dis-turbed conditions of the money or stock may-kets. First seed of trust notes (first meet-gages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gilt edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or cor-porations for their stability and are exampt from taxation as personal property. We com-supply such investments in amounts from $600 upwar1. Send for bookiat, "Concerning Leans and Investments."
